SABBATARIANS STRIKE A SNAG. Meeting at Which World's Fair Sunday Closing Resolutions Were Voted Down. CHICAGO, Dec. 14.-The American Sabbath Union suffered a defeat last night at one of its meetings, which so surprised the leaders present that the incident was a veritable sensation. It was an unexpected blow, and the more grievous because it was administered by one of the most Sabbatarian of all Christian denominations. It is a national convention, and arrangements were made for four mass-meetings throughout the city last night to forward the movement. One of these meetings was held at the M. E. Church, South Park avenue and Thirty-third street. It was a small mass-meeting, but everything went on smoothly for a time, and the American Sabbath had everything its own way. Dr. H. H. George, a leader in the movement, Mr. Locke and others advocated the closing of the world's fair on Sunday, and vigorously denounced the efforts of the directors and the Mayor and the Council to have Congress open the fair pn Sunday. These were not unanimously approved by "amens," and clapping of hands. No one looked for any opposition to a long set of resolutions which were being offered for Sunday closing. When the reading was concluded, Rev. H. N. Axtell but the resolution to a vote. To his surprise the yeas and nays seemed equal. The chairman then said that a rising vote would seem to be in order, and he requested all in favor of the resolution to stand up. They recounted 30 on their feet. "All opposed will arise," said the chairman. The rest of the audience, with the exception of four, who seemed to have no opinions on the matter, stood up, and the secretary, looking around at the evident majority, paid little attention to counting heads and declared there were at least 35 against the resolutions and, what seemed stranger, was that many of them were women. After a moment of wonder, the chairman said he would like to have some explanation for the action of the majority, and then the Rev. A. D. Jones, editor of the American Sentinel, of New York, the organ of the Seventh-day Adventists, stood up, and, despite interruptions and questions, made a long and aggressive speech. Perhand to determine whether the fair should be opened or closed on Sunday, but he was opposed to the resolution because it condemns the effort to have the fair opened on theological grounds, and because Congress had no right, in the first place, to say whether it should be opened or closed. The action was unconstitutional because no power on the subject of religion had been delegated to Congress. The Fourth Com-mandment, he said, had been sent up for reading by Senator Quay as a reason for the passage as a reason for the passage of the act, and Senator Peffer was right when he said the Senate was engaged in a religious discussion as to whether the first or seventh day should be observed as Sunday. In answer to questions, he said the employment of chaplains in Congress and the army was unconstitutional, and Congress could not in any way establish or legalize a Sunday law.

"Then you are an infidel," some one in-"No. sir; I am a Christian." Rev. Jones plied. "God never gave his pledge in favor of Sunday. He always said the seventh day was the Sabbath, and when you say He meant the first day, where is your respect for the law of Ged?" Mr. Stowe, Mr. Locke, Dr. George and others replied to him, and the Rev. Mr. Jones came back with other arguments. The closing session of the union was held to-day. In the morning a telegram was prepared and sent to. Washington urging ongressmen, and especially the committee on the world's fair, to take no action to repeal the Sunday closing provision of the world's fair bill. At the afternoon session a resolution was adopted, and ordered sent to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. The resolution seid that the Sabbath Union believed itself epresentative of the Christian sentiment of America in planting itself firmly upon the command of God to remember the Sabbath. Assurances were given of the union's sympathy with the Federation of Labor In any wise move which had for its object the elevation of labor, and the promise was given that the union would not cease entil all laboring men have received one day in seven for rest. Just before adjourning, to meet next year at Columbus, O., a collection was taken to pay the expenses of the convention. A resolution was sdopted, as the sense of the meeting, that the sum of $5,000,000 be raised during the coming year for the purpose of carrying on Sabbath work.

The following officers were elected: President, Elliot F. Shepard, of New York; general and corresponding secretary. Rev. J. H. Knowles, of New York; general field secretary, Rev. H. H. George, of Pennsylvania; treasurer, R. M. Perlee, of New York.

The Bulldozing Steamship Agents. Boston, Mass., Dec. 14.-The Boston scents of the various steamship lines question the justice and intelligence of the rulings of the Treasury Department regarding the restriction of immigration. The agents disclaim any intention of placing obstacles in the way of travel from abroad en route to the world's fair, but they say the companies must protect themselves. LONDON, Dec. 14.—Mr. Peters, secretary of the North Atlantic Steamship Association. has telegraphed to the representative of the United Press that the decision not to earry steerage passengers on the vessels beoging to the association after January, 1868, applies to American citizens and residents of the United States as well as persons who have not been in America.

Two Missing Men.

St. Louis, Dec. 14.-Two disappearances of well-to-do men, who are known to have had considerable money on their persons, are puzzling the police. Albert M. Lacrom, a lawyer of Effingnam, Ill., has been miss-ing since Nov. 23. He had with him at least $1.000. He was last seen at the railway depot, and said he was going home, He is a middle-aged man, weighs about 175 pounds, bas a dark mustache and dark hair streaked with gray, and wore a light overcoat and gray suit. Henry R. Harris came bere Dec. 4 from Reelfoot, Tenn., and colcted $1,000 on a shipment of cotton. Assassinated While Holding His Baby. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 14.-News of 1 dastardly assassination comes from Kemper unty, Mississippi, where the Talbert outlaws have been recently run down and captured. William Breham, a respectable farmer, was accused by the Talbert sympathizers of having given information which ed to the arrest of their leader. He was sitting in his room last night, his wife by his side and his baby on his knee, when suddenly a bullet crashed through the window and struck him in the head. "Take the baby; I am shot," he said to his wife, and fell over dead. The assassins have not cen arrested.

WABASH'S $60,000.

Conditions on Which the Yandes Gift Has Been Secured-The Co-Education Question. Special to the Indiapapolis Journal.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Dec. 14.-It was ascertained when the commissioners' court assembled this morning that one commissioner favored giving Wabash College $10,000, in order that the institution would receive $60,000. One commissioner opposed the plan, and the third was on the fence, although he was in favor of it, provided the county attorney would say the board had an unquestioned right to make the donation. The conditions were these: Give $4,000, due June 15, 1894, if the commissioners were perpetually allowed to award two scholarships in Wabash College; second, give $5,000, due Jan. 15, 1896, in case the college by that time would have opened its doors for the admission of women. At that point it began to look as though the issue was admit the ladies or lose $60,000. The college authorities withdrew to talk over the matter, and also to consult the county attorney. This afternoon the county attorney gave his written opinion, ers had power to give the money. The college committee reported that they would accept the $4,000 on the conditions named to secure that amount, but that they did not have power to act in the co-educational matter, as that lay with the trustees. However, they said, the granting of the $6,000 on the conditions would be a big step in that direction. Mr. Fuller, the commissioner, said he meant that if any sum was granted it was on condition of co-education, but, as he saw it was un-derstood otherwise, he would so vote. Thus Wabash College secured $4,000 unconditionally and $6,000 if the ladies are admitted by 1896. The extra $30,000 has now been raised, and Mr. Simon Yandes, of Inthe $00,000 to endow a "Yandes chair."

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT. Blankenship Post, G. A. R., Strongly Protests Against Its Mexicanization. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 14.-Perry M Blankenship Post, No. 77. G. A. R., at its meeting last night, took the following notice of the soldiers' monument question: As comrades of the G. A. R. and individual oldiers we take a just pride in the monumen now in process of erection at Indianapolis to the Union soldiers of Indiana. It promises to be a magnificent and deserved memorial to our heroic soldiers, living and dead. It was projected and had for its purpose, in our judgment, the com-memoration of the gallant services rendered by the volunteer soldiers of Indiana in the war of 1861-1865 for the preservation of the Union of the States and the salvation of the Nation. The war for the Union was just, the services of the Indiana soldier were heroic, and the monu ment to commemorate the cause and the actors should be impressive and speak with no uncertain voice. It could be reared to typify no holier cause, it could perpetuate no truer service. It should suggest but one thought, should teach but one lesson—namely, the magnificent loyalty of the sons of Indiana to the government, to the Union of the States and to the principles of liberty. It should bear no date, or figure, or letter that does not call up and typify the great struggle for the preservation of the Union, and none other. That struggle, in its cost, its sacrifices and its far-reaching consequences, transcends all others in which this generation has engaged. In view of these facts we cannot consent that this monument shall be diverted from its original design, and we desire to enter our emphatic and earn-est protest against the purpose ex-pressed and the attempt being made by the Monument Commissioners to belittle it with inscriptions commemorative of other insignif cant wars in our history, and thus practicall thwart the splendid patriotic purpose of a loya people in its erection; therefore, Resolved, by Blankenship Post, No. 77, G. A R., That the soldiers' monument should, as was originally designed, be commemorative of the oyalty and devotion of the volunteer soldiers of Indiana in the war for the preservation of the Union, and we demand that no figure, or date, or letter shall be inscribed thereon that does not have a distinct and special reference to that great struggle and crowning triumph.

The train was late at the time of the accident, and was lamburg, Germany, and did have one in | ductor Craig was in charge, with William engineer's whistle was unheeded.

Jail Delivery at Martinsville, pecial to the Indianapolis Journal. MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 14.-The four prisoners in the county jail here effected their escape this morning, and will likely lead their pursuers a good chase. The sheriff's son visited their apartments early this morning, and on leaving pulled the door shut, as he thought. The door fastens with a spring lock. The prisoners had succeeded in fastening the latch back so it would not spring when the door was closed. Young Smith did not notice this. The prisoners had but ten minutes' start of the officers, but they made for the fastnesses of Brown county's hills and wooded tracts. The escaped prisoners are Amos Myers. William Morrison, Jacob Kiphart and James Rutan. All were laying out fines for minor offenses

Juvenile Burglars.

Special to the Inmanapolis Journal. ELKHART, Ind., Dec. 14.-A gang of juvenile burglars, averaging about twelve years of age each, was discovered here today, and a number of them captured. August Stentz, Claude Ball, Louis McCaffrey and George Seibert have been placed in the county jail until they can be sent to the Reform School. They are known to have burglarized the Jones & Hill gum factory, broke into the Lake Shore freight care, stolen from the Central Building and the Y. M. C. A. rooms, and to have stolen from baggage-cars. Several others of the gang have not been captured. They are regu larly organized, and are old criminals for their ages.

Death of a Widely-Known Electrician. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FORT WAYNE, Ind. Dec. 14.-M. M. M. Slattery, chief electrician of the Fort Wayne Electric Company, died suddenly this afternoon of hemorrhage of the lungs. He bad been an invalid for over a year, but this result was not expected. He was the inventor of several valuable electrical appliances, and was widely known among electricians in this country and England, the latter being the land of his birth. He took a great interest in Masonry, being a member of Indiana Consistory, S. P. 1 Scottish Rite and of Murat Temple, N. M. 8. He was ex-president of the Shrine Club of this city. Bartholomew County's Orphans' Home. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Dec. 14.-The new Orphans' Home, erected in this county at a cost of $10,000, has reached a state of completion that required the selection of a matron, and this was done by the County Commissioners to-day. There were a number of applicants, some from other States, for this place, but the fortunate one was Mrs. Mattie Wertz, wife of Professor Samuel Wertz, of the high-school of this city. The selection will give general satisfaction. The new building is to be finely fitted throughout by donations from private parties. The ground on which the building is erected was donated to the county by Richard Thomas, of the Cerealine Manufacturing Company, and the home was given the name of his decoased wife. Four leading physicians of the city yesterday tendered to the County Commissioners their services in behalf of the orphans free of charge for one year, and today a druggist proffered to furnish free of charge all drugs and medicines required at the institution for one year. The home will be opened on Jan. 1.

The State Chess Tournament

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LOGANSPORT, Ind., Dec. 14.-The State contest in the Indiana chess tournament, to-day, resulted as follows: Hensley won a game from Lee; Ballard won from Leach; Brown won from Lee; Leach won from Hensley; Brown won from Haas; Jackson lost to Haas and won from Lee. Ballard, of Anderson, leads in the contest with six straight games. At 4 o'clock first of the three games the international contest tween Showalter, champion of the United States, and Lasker, of Berlin, began. Lasker opened with a Ruy Lopez, which was brilliantly defended.

A Seven-Year Sentence.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PERU, Ind., Dec. 14 .- The jury in the case of Elmer Willard, of Denver, this county, and charged with the murder of Dr. Chord, of Logansport, on the 1st day of April last, and sentenced him to seven years in the penitentiary. The case was brought to this county on change of venue. The trial lasted two weeks, and was one of the most bitterly contested ever known. A motion for a new trial will be made. The evidence throughout was purely circumstantial. Public feeling is generally in favor of Gang of Counterfeiters Broken Up.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 14.-The gang of counterfeiters that has been flourishing in this city for some time has now been broken up by the arrest of the leaders. Hank Linieger, Lorin Miller, Mrs. McCullough and the little girl. Eva Friend, were bound over to-day to the United States Court. Linieger and Miller were taken to the jail at Marion, Ind., where United States prisoners are confined, and the women were taken to the reformatory.

Approved Version of What Transpired at the Conference of Archbishops.

The Papal Legate Submitted Fourteen Propositions for Settling the School Question - Father Corrigan's Trial.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 14,-There has just been issued by the publishing-house of John Murphy & Co., of this city, for private circulation among the bishops of the Catholic Church in the United States, an authentic "abstract of the minutes of the third annual conference of the most reverend archbishops of the United States." This authorized abstract is signed by P. L. Chappelle, secretary, and is accompanied by the following statement: "In accordance with a resolution of the board the foregoing abstract has been approved by the most eminent chairman (Cardinal Gibbons) and by his Grace, the Most Reverend Archbishop of New York." These approved minutes will probably be accepted by Catholics everywhere as conclusive on the disputed questions as to what took place in the conference of archbishops as to Mgr. Satolli's mission and the views the Papal legate laid before the conference on the public-school question. Following are the extracts bearing on this matter: "The first session opened at 10 A. M., Nov.

16, 1892. His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons opened the conference with prayer. Arch-bishop Ireland tendered his resignation as secretary of the board and Bishop Chappelle was chosen in his stead. Then the Cardinal introduced the apostolic delegate, the Most Rev. Archbishop Satolli. He informed the metropolitans that he had been commissioned by the Holy Father to speak to them in his name, on the question of Catholic education. He then read and explained fourteen propositions, which he laid before the archbishops for the purpose of finally settling the school quesshould be adopted for the imparting of religious instruction to Catholic children. After having declared that to-day returned a verdict of manslaughter | this statement was made in the name of he had been charged, moreover, by Leo XIII, to inform the metropolitans that, as has been customary with the Holy See to appoint apostolic delegates to reside permanently in countries where the hierarchy is well established and religion is flourishing, it was the Pope's heartfelt desire that now a permanent apostolic delegation should be established in the United States with the concurrence of the most reverence arebbishops. At the afternoon session of the same day the document presented by Mgr. Satolli was taken up and some modi fications suggested. Mgr. Satolli, who afterward entered the meeting, explained that the document represented the mind of the Pope, which did not admit of discussion; that the style and expressions were his [Mgr. Satolli's] own, and that he would be most happy to make in them any modification the assembled prelates deemed

> "In the seventh and last session, Saturday. Nov. 19, the most reverend delegate made a kindly and eloquent speech, thanking the prelates for their kind reception and adding that their deliberations would be productive of excellent results. At the request of all the members of the board, he kindly consented to alter the last sentence of his pamphelet by concluding this important document with the following words: 'All of which has been read and weighed in the meeting of the archbishops The difficulties have been solved and the modifications asked for have been made. It was unanimously resolved that the most eminent chairman should convey by letter to the most reverend apostolic delegate their grateful acknowledgment, deep sense of respect and best wishes for his person and sacred character. They were, in-deed, grateful to the Holy Father for having sent to them so learned and holy a representative on a special mission, the duties of which he had so ably discharged."

Meeting of Bishops at St. Louis St. Louis, Nov. 14 .- To-morrow the Council of Suffragan Bishops of the Metropolitan See of St. Louis will convene at the residence of Archbishop Kenrick, on Lindell avenue. This conference has been the topic of much discussion among the Catholics of St. Louis, and more speculation. The interest here in the meeting is intense on account of the selection of an assistant to Archbishop Kenrick. This concerns both priests and people, while the other matters concern only the priests, and is of no little interest locally. The meeting of the suffragans will be the most secret possible. The Archbishop will preside, and the youngest in the meeting will likely be the secretary. The coadjutorship will very likely be the last question considered. The result of the deliberations of the bishops, which, if they think favorable of the appointment of a coadjutor, will be the selection of three names which they will designate first, second and third, as the choice of the council, and will send to Rome, and from these Rome will choose the assistant to Archbishop Kenrick, and until she annonnces her choice the bishops com prising the council are expected to keep a dense silence on what they did and said in the council. The next most important thing is the crea tion of one or two new bishoprics and the raising of Bishop Hennessy, of Dubuque, to the archbishoprical dignity. The council cannot do this, as it is Rome's prerogative, but it is within the province of the council to suggest to the Holy See the propriety of such a step in a memorial. As it is known that Archbishop Kenrick has for some time entertained the idea of raising his senor suffragan to a metropolitan office, the council will to-morrow very likely take the necessary preliminary steps. The other important question is filling the vacant see of St. Joseph. This is done by a suggestion of three names to Rome. The Corrigan Trial Will Be Long.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 14.-Mgr. Donne. who is one of the arbitrators appointed to decide whether Father O'Connor was competent to be judge of the ecclesiastical court in the case of Father Corrigan, said to-night that the trial was likely to be a protracted one. The arbitrators will meet at St. Patrick's rectory to-morrow. The trial cannot proceed, however, until the arbitrators have made a report as to whether Father O'Connor should be allowed to act as judge. Several priests who have been summoned to appear as witnesses at the trial refuse to talk for publication. Father Corrigan was interviewed at Hoboken to-night as to whether overtures had been made to him with a view of effecting a compromise. He denied that he had been approached by any one. "I have no apology to make." he said. "I have not offended the bishop or archbishop, and as far as the investigation has gone, nothing has been presented to sustain the charges. My counsel, Dr. Burtsel, objected to Vicar-general O'Connor acting as presiding judge, because I believe he is biased against me. Father O'Connor lives in the same house with Bishop Wigger and they eat at the same table, and it is harly reasonable to think that they have not discussed my case and that Father O'Connor is entirely free from bias as he should be as presiding judge at my trial. A Warning from the Vatican.

ROME, Dec. 14.-Much irritation exists at the Vatican on account of the attacks made by certain American Catholic journals on the person and the mission of Mgr. Satolli. It is learned that as regards the opposition made to the policy of the Pope, the Vatican may cause inquiry to be made into its origin. The Holy Father is desirous that his agents shall be respected, and that his views of pacification in the United States shall be followed. If there be any need of it, the Pope will in this instance also take severe measures with those who oppose his intervention. It is believed here that the Vatican knows whence the hostile American criticisms proceed May Pardon Murderer King.

from Big Stone Gap, Va., says a crowd of toughs broke into the office of the Daisy iron mines, at Hogan Station, two or three nights ago, and told an old negress who slept in the front room that they proposed to "run" the mines. The woman got up, secured two shotguns and backed to the rear room, where H. L. Monterio, the manager of the mines, slept. Monterio took the weapons, and in ten seconds there were two men and three fingers of another man on the ground outside and two Winchester bullet holes in Monterio's hat. The toughs ran, carrying off the two bodies with them. Yesterday there were said to have been two funerals at Hogan and a man had three finger stumps dressed by a doctor. The man was Rush Morgan, a notorious desperado, who broke jail at Joneswhile on trial for murder, and he and his gang have terrorized the Hogan region ever since. The two dead men belonged to the gang. Morgan is reported to be also wounded in the stomach, and the sheriff is close on his track.

FATHER'S STRANGE CONDUCT

Refuses to Prosecute the Man Who Criminally Assaulted His Daughter.

A Retired Banker, of Rossville, Ill., Who Is Being Denounced on All Hands as a Monster-Resolutions Adopted by Women.

DANVILLE, III., Dec. 14.-The little town of Rossville is in convulsions over an extraordinary affair. George Ruth, a roustabout in the employ of W. J. Henderson, a tiful eighteen-year-old daughter of Henderson. The girl nearly died from fright and injury and immediately gave the alarm. For some unexplained reason the father tried to dissuade Nellie from telling the facts, and Ruth was not arrested until forty-eight hours after the commission of the crime. The trial of Ruth, to the surprise of every one, resulted in acquittal. Public indignation has grown and a massmeeting of the citizens of Rossville was held last night, in which strong resolutions were adopted. Henderson is denounced as an unnatural father, a monster who refused to prosecute the ravisher of his daughter. It is told of him in these resolutions that on one occasion he drove his daughters home from a party with a horsewhip. The resolutions declare Nellie to have been a modest, pure girl, and view with alarm the return of Ruth to the community.

The unfortunate girl sits at the home of her sister in Rossville weeping, and refuses to go home. It is believed that Ruth has some hold on Henderson, which prevents him from prosecuting. Ruth remarked that if he went to the penitentiary Henderson would go also. Nellie testified at the trial that Ruth said: "Your father gave me permission to do this." The whole community is angered and violence is

This afternoon sixty-five of the leading women of Rossville held a meeting, with closed doors, at the Presbyterian Church. They unanimously adopted a long series of resolutions, expressing entire confidence in Miss Nellie Henderson and denouncing her father, W. J. Henderson, in the strongest terms that words will express. The ladies charged that "the father of Miss Henderson stated to the defendant in the presence of witnesses that he would go on defendant's bail bond. This, we believe, he was deterred from doing by fear of public senti-ment. We believe that the father, by his conduct in this case and in his previous treatment of his children, has shown himself to be devoid of all those feelings of parental interest in and solicitude for his offspring which are characteristic not only of human beings, but of brutes." The resolutions then say:

Resolved, That for a monster who will refuse prosecute the man whom his daughter charges as her ravisher we have the utmost loathing and Resolved. That of the innocence and purity of the victim of his outrageous crime we have not the shadow of doubt, and we extend to her the assurance of our undiminished respect for her and our appreciation of her honest character. Mr. W. J. Henderson is a retired banker. and one of the wealthiest men in Vermillion county. About a year ago Ruth saved his life by extricating him from under his horse, which he was riding, and which had fallen down on top of him. He is a very peculiar man, of few words, and walks through the streets of Rossville, attending to his customary business, paying no attention to the averted and hostile faces of his neighbors. The bombardment of resolutions apparently has had no effect whatever on him. A life-long acquaintance says that Henderson would not give a dollar if the resolutions had never been passed. Since the trial Miss Nellie has been staying at the house of a married sister. To-day her father demanded that she return home. This she refused to do, fearing brutal treatment.

A Burly Negro's Crime. Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 14.-This morning, about 11 o'clock, while nobody was at home but Mrs. Anderson and her seventeen-year-old daughter Kate, a burly negro entered the house, and finding Miss Anderson alone in her room, seized her with the intention of as saulting her. The girl screamed and the brute drew out a knife and attempted to out her throat, making a gash several inches long. Mrs. Anderson, who was in another room, heard the screaming and ran to her daughter's assistance, but the negro knocked her down with a large stick he carried, jumped out of the room and escaped. The alarm was soon given and in a short time two hundred men on horseback and on foot were scouring the city and adjacent country. Four negroes have been arrested and there is a growing suspicion among the populace that one of the four negroes in custody is the guilty one, and that the police know it, but will not say so. There will be no lynching to-night because the citizens do not know whom to hang.

HOLIDAY AND OTHER BOOKS.

[From the Bowen-Merrill Company, Indianapolis.] Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have issued "Dorothy Q.," "A Ballad of the Boston Tea-party" and Grandmother's Story of Bunker Hill Battle. three of Oliver Wendell Holmes's poems, in a pretty little volume. The poems are among the most famous of the verse which has been devoted to the colonial and revolutionary period. Dorothy Q. was an ancestress of Dr. Holmess, and a daughter of Edmund Quiney, and the poem is addressed to her portrait. The titles of "The Ballad of the Boston Tea-party" and "Grandmother's Story of Bunker Hill Battle" peak for themselves. The illustrations, loward Pyle, include a portrait of Dorothy Q., together with illustrations and decorative borders for the text, with head and tail pieces. The book is a typographical gem. Cloth, $1.50.

Mr. John R. Musick's series of novels founded on events in American history is continued by the publication of "Pocahontas." It is hardly necessary to say that the story is founded on the celebrated and somewhat apocryphal incident in which Capt. John Smith figured. The author has succeeded well in calling up from the dead past the real men and women who figured so conspiccousir in the thrilling events of that time; a while historic accuracy has been his chief aim, the romantic interest never flags-the brilliant setting of the story fixes historic characters permanently in the reader's memory. "Poca-hontas" is a good story for young people. Cloth, $1.50. New York: Funk & Wagnails Company.

Capt. C. A. J. Farrar, who is well known many readers by his books describing the woods. lakes and mountains of New England, publishes a new volume, entitled "Through the Wilds." It is a record of sport and adventure in the forests of New Hampshire and Maine, and is a fascinating narrative of camp life, interspersed with realistic accounts of fishing and hunting adventures. The work is illustrated with over three hundred engravings, is well printed on heavy paper, and makes a large octavo volume, bound in cloth, black and gold. Price, $2.50. Boston: Estes & Lanriat.

Estes & Lauriat publish a pretty set of volumes entitled "Christmas in Many Lands Series," by Florence and Edith Scannell. It embraces four Christmas stories, each typical of some particular country or people, and entitled respectively, "Christmas in France," "Christmas in England," "Christmas in Italy" and "Christmas in Germany." These volumes are to be followed by others. Each volume is delicately bound in half vellum cloth, stamped in ink and gold, and fancy embossed papers in gold and delicate colors. Each volume is also taste-fully illustrated. Price, 50 cents each.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co. issue a new edition of Hawthorne's "Wonder-Book for Boys and Girls." This is the fourth edition of the work, which first appeared more than forty years ago. It is a reproduction and adaptation in Hawthorne's inimitable style of some of the ancient classical myths suited for the comprehension of young readers. The stories themselves are immortal, and were never presented in more attractive form than they are in this volume. The book is beautifully illustrated and bound, and is in all respect a fit holiday gift for a favorite

A famous, or, perhaps, one should say in famous passage in American history, is fully treated in a volume entitled "Witcheraft in Salem Village," by W. S Nevins. It tells the story of the witchcraft delusion of 1692 in such a way as to convey a faithful picture to the reader. The rise and growth of the singular craze is fully set forth, together with a descripAMUSEMENTS.

Boston: Lee & Shepard. Estes & Lauriat (Boston) are out with their "Little Ones' Annual for 1892-93." This is one of the best of the pictorial gift books for little children. Each annual number seems prettier than the last. This one is embellished with 370 entirely original illustrations, drawn expressly for the work by the most celebrated book illustrators in America, and engraved on wood in the bighest style under the superintendence of George T. Andrew. The cover is very artistic, being reproduced from a painting by Maud Humphrey. Price, $1.75.

A good book for children is "Tales of Ancient Troy and the Adventures of Ulysses," by Walter Montgomery. The author has put in good prose the stories of the ten years' siege of Troy, by the Greeks, and the wanderings of Ulysses and his companions returning homeward after the Tro-jan war. The subjects of Homer's great poems "The Iliad" and "The Odyssey." are told in sim-ple sketches, assisted by numerous graphic illustrations, depicting Ulysses, Hector, Achilles and the other heroes of the war. Cloth, $1,25. Estes & Lauriat.

The popular "Zig zag Series," by Hezekiah Butterworth, is continued by a new volume, entitled "Zig-zag Journeys on the Mississippi." In this volume the author, very appropriately in this Columbian year, sends his young voyagers through the country connected with our early history, and the volume is full of Columbia stories and the historic places visited. The trip is made down the famous Mississippi river, across the Gulf of Mexico to Havana. Illustrated. Ornamental cover, $1.50. Estes & A nice gift-book for little children is "The Bunny Stories," by John Howard Jewett. There are twenty stories in the volume, in each of which rabbits are made to figure as real children, or, to put it in another way, real children are made to figure as rabbits. The stories originally appeared in the St. Nicholas, and are calculated to interest and amuse little people. Ornamental cloth, $1,25. New York: Frederick A. Stokes & "Thomson's Seasons," one of the gems of English poetry, is issued by Estes & Lauriat in four beautiful little volumes, each of which is embellished with dainty illustrations appropriate to the poem and set into the text in artistic style. The volumes are beautifully printed on fine coated surface paper and bound in full In-dia siik, in new and delicate shades, stamped in gold. Separate or together they would make a pretty gift book. Price, $1 per volume.

"Raby and Ruthy," by Minnie E. Paul, is a bright story for very young readers. Illustrated. Cloth, $1. Estes & Lauriat.
